

COLYTON PARISH HISTORY SOCIETY NEWSLETTER 23 December 2018

Happy Christmas everyone! Just a short note to remind you all that the 2019 series of talks begins on 23 January in Colyton Town Hall with a social evening and a short talk by Jon Pratt about 'Taking Your Own Medicine.'

Sarah Charman, Editor

1. News

The poster features a blue background with a white border. At the top left is a small crest. The title 'Colyton Parish History Society Talks Programme 2019' is in blue. Below it, the event details are listed in black: 'Colyton Town Hall', 'January 23rd 2019 • 7.30.pm', and 'Members £2 • Non-Members £4 • Refreshments Included'. The main title 'Social Evening' is in large red letters. Below that, a paragraph in italics describes the talk: 'Including a short talk: "Taking Your Own Medicine" by Jon Pratt looking at the importance of self-medication in the 18th Century based upon ongoing research into the archive of the Sampson family of Colyton.' At the bottom, there is an image of two pieces of old, handwritten paper. The text 'All welcome' is at the bottom right.

Colyton Parish History Society
Talks Programme 2019

Colyton Town Hall
January 23rd 2019 • 7.30.pm
Members £2 • Non-Members £4 • Refreshments Included

Social Evening

Including a short talk: "Taking Your Own Medicine" by Jon Pratt looking at the importance of self-medication in the 18th Century based upon ongoing research into the archive of the Sampson family of Colyton.

All welcome

2019 programme

To see our exciting CPHS 2019 programme of talks and events, click the Programme button on the main menu

Heritage Centre

The Heritage Centre re-opens for the 2019 season from 1 April – 26 October 2019.